SUMMARY

Product Manager with a background in psychology and a strong focus on tech, AI, and data science. Shifted into tech once I discovered the world of data science and the art of turning raw data into storytelling and strategic execution. Through my experience as Product Manager, I have learned about UX, business analytics, product lifecycle, and marketing to build impactful products. I am driven by continuous discovery, new builds, and environments where no two problems are identical.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Product Manager — Innovation Studio

GBM · Panama City, Panama | Feb 2024 – Present

Translates business needs into functional requirements, initiatives, and roadmaps that developers and executives can act on. Leads product development from PoC to MVP, defining KPIs that measure value before building. Works closely with UX/UI designers and developers, and reports progress in executive and partner reviews.

- Functional requirements gathering: Facilitates discovery sessions with business leaders in banking, public sector, and retail; translates findings into functional requirements, initiatives, and roadmaps developers and executives can act on.
- Product lifecycle ownership: Takes ideas through PoCs and MVPs, defining the KPIs that measure value before building, and deciding with evidence what scales.
- Cross-functional coordination: Works with developers, UX/UI designers, and Customer Success; presents progress in executive reviews and partner sessions.
